The One Year Program in Modern Psychoanalysis

Our One Year Program provides an opportunity for clinical practitioners and professionals in various disciplines to enhance their clinical skills by introducing them to innovative, Modern Psychoanalytic principles, theories, and techniques. Classes will combine didactic and experiential learning in a supportive environment. They focus on deepening understanding of the psychological phenomena underlying resistances to healthy functioning. Students learn effective ways to design interventions to reverse maladaptive emotional and behavioral patterns. You will quickly begin to master new, practical clinical skills that can profoundly impact work with clients by promoting a collaborative, self-defining approach to growth. ACAP's methods for working in challenging situations can make the difference between burnout and career satisfaction. The One Year Program consists of four courses which introduce basic concepts. Participants will receive a certificate of completion at the end of each course.

Semester I - Course 1

MATURATIONAL PROCESS: EARLY DEVELOPMENTAL FAILURES

Presenters: Demetria DeLia, PhD, LCSW Annette Vaccaro, ATR-BC, LCSW

Course meets for six Mondays 7:00 pm – 8:40 pm

Jan 30, Feb 7, Feb 14, Feb 28, March 7, March 14, 2011

10 NASW-NJ Approved CE Credits for social workers

10 NBCC Approved CE Hours for counselors and art therapists

The course introduces social workers and other licensed/certified mental health practitioners and professionals working in many venues, such as psychiatry, substance abuse counseling, guidance and education, business, and law enforcement at intermediate and advanced levels, to the developmental failures that begin at birth and result in fixations and regressions during the psychosexual stages of life. Recognizing these deficits in the clinical setting provides knowledge regarding treatment planning, intervention strategies and evaluation.
